Dear Mr. Wesaw,

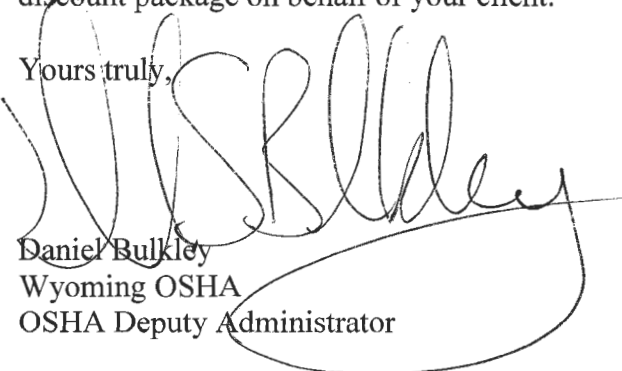

This agency has received your application to be a third-party safety auditor, and it has been reviewed and approved.

As a third-party safety auditor, it is your responsibility to ensure that each employer applying for the discount program fully completes its application. Using the supplied guidance, you will then have to complete a safety audit for the employer and submit the finished audit on behalf of the employer, your client. Once the audit package and application is received by Wyoming OSHA Consultation, it will be reviewed. If there are questions, you will be contacted and required to submit any missing information before your client is approved for the discount percentage you have recommended. If the requested information is not received within 30 days, then the application will be deemed not complete and you notified that the application package was rejected.

Wyoming OSHA Consultation conducts random audits of the employers approved by third-party safety auditors. You and your client will be notified of any problems uncovered by a random audit. If the employer no longer qualifies for the discount percent you recommended due to the audit, the discount percentage will be adjusted. If a problem is found with the audit of another of your clients, your privilege to conduct third-party safety audits may be subject to revocation.

As a third-party safety auditor approved to conduct Health & Safety Consultation Employer Discount Program audits, your email/website information will be posted on our website. By agreeing to be a third-party safety auditor, you are agreeing to follow the guidance given by Wyoming OSHA Consultation. Please contact Wyoming OSHA Consultation if you have questions before submitting a discount package on behalf of your client.

Yours truly,

Daniel Bulkley
Wyoming OSHA
OSHA Deputy Administrator
